ACE CLUB

Below are the students that will be going to the KY Center for the Arts in Louisville to see Broadway Across America's Beauty and the Beast. We will also be visiting the JB Speed Museum Master's Exhibit. If your child is not on this list, they either opted not to attend or they did not meet the required 3.3 GPA for the 9 weeks.

Please note that this is an overnight trip - leave JBS at noon on Oct. 24 and return on Oct. 25 in the afternoon.

Teachers, this will be the final activity for the next four months, and I appreciate your understanding in allowing this honors group to enjoy these activities.

PTO

Fall Festival Class Basket Money-- due this week!

The PTO is very excited about this year's Fall Festival. We have some great ideas for auction items this year that will hopefully be pleasing to all. We do need to ask for your children to start bringing their money in for the baskets. Again this year, it is based on the number of students in the family:

Child #1: $20

Child #2: $10

Child #3+: $5 per child

So if you have four children enrolled at JBS, then the total would be $40.

We will also be handing out a Donation Form to each child. If you know anyone who would like to donate an item to the Fall Festival, then complete the form and give the donor the bottom portion for tax purposes. Bring the top portion back to school and turn it in to the office.

With everyone's help this year, Fall Festival will once again be a great success.

Please be sure to save any new or gently-used items you no longer need for the JBS Fall Festival Country Store. These inexpensively-priced items will be for sale during the Festival. Send all much-appreciated, donated goodies to the JBS Office. Thank you. -Cindy Hall “Voices” have been distributed two per student. When those have been sold, the students need to turn them in to the office and get some more. There are plenty for everyone.

- Scholastic has announced the opening for entries to the Scholastic Art and Writing Awards. It is the largest national recognition, scholarship, exhibition, and publication program in the country for middle/high school students. Registration has already begun. There are TONS of categories and this looks great on a scholarship app. It would be great if all of the 7-12 kids would at least compete in one category. There is a poster located outside the counselor's office for more information. For more info, you can check out www.artandwriting.org.
- All juniors who have not taken the ACT must take the ACT before the end of their junior year. Please make sure to register online at www.actstudent.org.
- The American Academy of Dramatic Arts' Conservatory for Young Actors is offering a four-week summer intensive workshop for students age 12 – 16. The program is taught by the same professional and encouraging instructors who oversee The Academy's prestigious two-year Conservatory Program. If you would like to apply online, go to aada.edu/youth, or you can e-mail questions to youngactors@aada.edu. Some past students have included Danny DeVito, Anne Hathaway, and Paul Rudd.

The American Academy of Dramatic Arts will be holding auditions and scholarship opportunities for next year soon. If you are interested, please stop by the counselor's office for a brochure.
